He'll fight till axe falls

LIVERMORE — Elba Leonard figures he's fighting a losing battle to save his trees and shrubs from the bulldozer but he's still in there battling city hall at age 80.

The city wants to complete the extension of Railroad Avenue, behind the Livermore Arcade Shopping Center (Safeway, Sears, etc.). The road would be extended to connect with Stanley Blvd. between Leonard's house and the PG&E substation. The corner of his property is in the way and is slated for condemnation.

Leonard is a World War One veteran "who moved to Livermore on a stretcher, in a Southern Pacific baggage car to be treated for tuberculosis at the Veteran's Hospital" back in 1928.

He looks at his doomed English Walnut tree and shakes his head, remembering grafting it "several years ago." He can't bear the thought of its ultimate demise.

"The city has been crying for beautification. Plant Trees! Plant greens! Plant flowers has been the plea of the city big shots," he wrote to city hall this week. "How hypocritical can they be?"

"They've even offered to furnish trees for people to plant curbside," he complains. "Yet, here are mine — three walnuts, an almond, a black oak, a white lilac and a manzanita shrub, all planted curbside voluntarily and cared for over many years."

"After spending over eighty years on this globe, there's little time remaining for anyone to enjoy the fruits of half that lifetime's efforts," he added in his letter. "Believe me, no amount of money could properly compensate for the loss."

Leonard complains that with 130 feet between his property line and the PG&E fence, only 80 feet are required for the roadway and "they could bend the road a bit without touching my property."

An engineer from the public works department told The Times the

Going home

School's tribute to a good friend

PLEASANTON — Margaret Long would love the strapping Dogwood implanted in her memory at Valley View School yesterday.

The Long property in this community was spotted with Dogwoods, a flowering tree that produces a special kind of leaf colored white or pink and abundant in the southeastern United States.

The Dogwood was planted yesterday afternoon in the courtyard of the school that Margaret Long helped open 17 years ago. And for 15 years after the school's opening in 1960 she served as secretary, special "right hand" of principals Gene Vargas and John Bristow and confidant to hundreds of students and teachers.

Margaret Long died suddenly Jan. 7 at a hospital near her and husband John's new home in Paradise.

But she will always be remembered.

At ceremonies Wednesday at the school, the entire student body gathered as Valley View's first principal, Gene Vargas, introduced and dedicated a plaque in Mrs. Long's memory.

Kelly Liebert, a fifth grade student, read a poem she and her mother composed entitled "To A Cherished Friend," and fourth grader Don Biringer recited "Trees."

John Bristow, who succeeded Vargas as principal, dedicated the Dogwood tree to Valley View School in memory of Mrs. Long. Fred Spaeth closed the ceremony by playing a trumpet solo, "Going Home."

Gun-wielding Pleasanton youth nabbed

PLEASANTON — A 15-year-old Pleasanton youth caught shoplifting three liquor bottles from Safeway Tuesday escaped after flashing a gun at his captor. The youth was later arrested at his home.

According to reports, the suspect was apprehended by an employee for allegedly taking the alcoholic beverages Tuesday. The juvenile reportedly produced an unloaded .38-caliber revolver from his waistband and forced the employee to let him leave.

Sgt. Gary Lewis and officer Bob Shaw traced the youth on information supplied by the store employee. The youth was arrested at his home, where he possessed a loaded .32-caliber automatic pistol.

Items in the suspect's possession, including the pistol, were reportedly stolen in two recent residential burglaries. The youth has been charged with theft, possessing and brandishing a weapon, and two counts of receiving stolen property.

Unity despite vote

Presbyterians—no rancor in ranks

PLEASANTON — Despite the close vote over whether to move its 100 year old church or construct new buildings on its Mirador drive site, members of Presbyterian Community Church are not angry with each other.

The plan to build new buildings on the site at 4300 Mirador Drive beat the plan to move the church there by a 145-138 vote with five abstentions Tuesday night in a packed sanctuary.

People were zealous on both sides of the aisle, but pledged unity even before the vote was taken. They voted overwhelmingly earlier to consolidate sanctuary and Sunday school facilities on the new site and the only thing at issue in the 145-138 vote was which plan would implement that consolidation.

Even the hymns sung during the counting of the 288 ballots were symbolic of the congregation's unity, said Lew Helgeson. One of the hymns, "We are One in the Spirit" was especially appropriate, said Helgeson.

"We may differ on what to do about buildings, but we are completely united in our attempt to show Christian love for one another," said Helgeson, who presented the "new buildings" plan to the congregation Tuesday night.

Folks who advocated moving the old buildings made a strong point about wanting to have the old sanctuary for constant worship, but Helgeson feels Presbyterians will have "plenty of opportunities to meet in the old church."

Gladys Pearson, financial secretary for the building fund, said, "I'm delighted with the spirit in our church and our desire to grow. Which way we went was not important, but it is important that we move ahead."

The church members will meet in the sanctuary Feb. 6 after the second service to decide membership of a new building committee. Many of the members of the new committee will be holdovers from the old building committee, another sign that the whole congregation is united behind the group's decision, said a Presbyterian who participated in the vote

Tuesday night.

An informed source said that with the right weather and flow of plans, the congregation may see its first new building at this time next year.

Student status

Mary Christine Rohn of 255 Cambridge Way, Livermore, has been named to the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

A 1973 graduate of Livermore High, Cris was among 47 Humboldt State University scholars chosen for the honor. She was singled out for her work with natural resources and will receive a citation during spring quarter.

She worked as a seasonal ranger at Yellowstone National Park last summer and as an aide with the National Park Service there in 1975.

"Who's Who," which has been published for more than 40 years, is called a "nationally respected reference source containing the biographies of those students who have made a significant contribution to the university community."

Nominations are made by a faculty committee based on grades, citizenship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, service to the school and potential future achievement.

Mayor interviewed

Pleasanton Mayor Robert Philcox will be interviewed by Bev Hamlin on The Cable Connection, seen at 8 p.m. today in Pleasanton and Dublin on cable TV Channel 10.

Eileen Rinde and Joan Schuler from "Build the Earth" will read a letter from an Irish peace marcher they contacted. Neil Miller interviews Dublin Bullets soccer coach Frank Terce, Salle Larson and Ron McNicoll interview Cathy Bynum of the Pleasanton Swim Club and there will be a visit to the Dublin Recycling Center staffed by Preston Hunter and a group from the Latter Day Saints. McNicoll and Miller are the show's hosts today.

Parent power

Twelve parents scattered throughout the Valley have formed Parents Educational Rights and Responsibilities Organization, (PERRO) to assist in keeping tabs on education in the community.

The group aims to inform parents of rights in regards to schools, offer assistance when parents want to exercise those rights, and represent parents when communication with school officialdom breaks down.

For details, see page 7.

Coffee pitch sours

Public outcry over soaring coffee prices has caused the U.S. coffee industry to give up plans for a $9 million promotion campaign.

The American delegation has withdrawn application for $4.5 million in backing for the campaign from the International Coffee Organization board meeting in London.

Wednesday, a Pleasanton woman said she will organize an area-wide boycott of coffee to protest high prices.

Last roundup

James Merritt will preside over his last Valley Memorial Hospital board meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

It will be the last meeting before the annual meeting and elections scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 17. Tonight's agenda features reports on VMH finances, programs and plans, and takes place in the COVE building (behind the main facility) off East Stanley Boulevard, Livermore.

Merritt's place on the nine-member board is expected to be taken by nominee Edwin C. Rundstrom, former superintendent of schools in Livermore and a local rancher. Incumbents J. Jack Bras of Pleasanton and Joseph Sladky of Livermore are running unopposed for the other two seats.

'Trees for Pleasanton' near goal

PLEASANTON — Wanted — 24 more tree donors so that this community can close the books on one grass-roots venture aimed at restoring the "Town of lovely old trees" image which was once Pleasanton's claim.

The count today is 15 donors in the drive for 39 contributors and the final phase of a three-year program which will result in well over 300 trees planted along the city's major boulevards.

The "Trees For Pleasanton" committee recently took delivery on another 150 sycamores, and sponsors have now come forward for all but 24 of those trees.

If you want to participate, send your check (at $15 for each tree to be purchased, planted, staked and cultivated) in care of: Trees for Pleasanton, P.O. Box 607, Pleasanton 94566. Include the names of those you will want recorded in the permanent "Book of Trees" which will be kept on display at civic center.

Latest contributors include Pleasanton Assembly 58 International Order Rainbow for Girls; Pleasanton Lions Club; Jill and Blair Gach of Livermore; the Robert A. Wright family of Pleasanton; from the Bob Lane family in memory of Emma and Alvades Lane; from Jacqueline Olmstead in memory of L.C. Taylor and in memory of M.F. Taylor; from Laura Mullins in memory of John Mullins and in memory of Stephen Mullins; from Paul Daniel in memory of Arthur B. James; from Tony Martelli, Jr. in memory of Dawn Martelli.

San-Am group still after hospital

San - Am Medical Group has formed the public corporation it needs to construct a hospital in the Pleasanton - Dublin area and still is very much alive in those efforts.

Danville physician Marvin Goldman has been shy of the press but he told The Times through an intermediary that the public corporation has been formed and will have its first board meeting soon.

The San - Am group wasted a little motion unwittingly by speeding to apply for a certificate of need for the hospital before Sept. 8, the cutoff date prior to a two year moratorium which the legislature planned to impose on hospital construction. However, Governor Jerry Brown didn't sign the bill, so there's no moratorium.

Right now the old standards for proving hospital need are still in effect, but despite a population - geared formula, it's somewhat subjective and still judged by the state health department, according to Chet Pelton, state health department planner. There would be a local public hearing by the state and if a new health planning board is appointed in the Bay Area by the time San - Am's application is far down the road, that group would have a public hearing on it, too, said Pelton.

A new law, AB4001, may affect the local need standards, too. It's not clear just what it will prescribe, though, because its guidelines are still in their first draft, said Pelton.

Goldman is aware that old state guidelines are tough on proving need for the valley, but he thinks the old formulas are unrealistic for suburban areas. He thinks he can convince the state there is a need for a 150 bed hospital in Pleasanton or perhaps Dublin - San Ramon.

UC report critical of schools

A UC Field Service Review of the Amador - Pleasanton business services division has uncovered shortcomings in policy development, coordination with personnel and instructional areas and the payroll function.

The 19-page report presented to school boards of the two districts last night also targeted relations between the districts' business division and county schools and a "need for more careful management in purchasing policies and practices."

Orrin Batchelor, a member of the three - man study team and business manager for the San Ramon School District, said he felt the districts' most pressing need was to get onto the county payroll system as of July 1.

The districts' payroll function has been done by the Fremont Unified School District.

Dr. Ted Reller, a UC professor of education who headed the study, indicated in the report "the districts have not developed and adopted an up - to - date statement of policies and procedures regarding business services."

The report claims that procedural memos issued have not covered all important areas and "have lacked force."

But the primary salvos were directed at the data processing function, which the county will undertake for Fremont, Amador and Pleasanton July 1.

Some trustees had reservations on whether county schools could adapt a Los Angeles County business services package.

Tax man explains new laws

LIVERMORE — When the baby starts wailing and the babysitter tries to comfort it, most working parents out having a good time take some pleasure thinking about the income tax deduction for baby-sitting.

But, there have been changes in the tax laws.

A lot of people sit at their desks in a home office, thinking they can deduct part of their rent or mortgage payment for their work efforts.

But, the tax laws are tightening up for individuals as well as corporations.

And, if you are a medical person or other professional who attends foreign conventions and seminars, there are new limitations on how many of these trips you can take before the IRS officials shake their head sideways, disapprovingly.

Gerald Holmes, who spent eight years working for the Internal Revenue Service and now is a certified public accountant with Touche Ross & Co. of Oakland, will outline the changes affecting individuals in the Tax Reform Act of 1976 when he appears at the Livermore Public Library Wednesday, Feb. 9, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

He will outline changes that affect tax shelters, including changes in capitalization and amortization of non residential and residential property, pre - paid interest, limitations on investment, changes in partnership laws, oil and gas, farming syndication, and other topics.

A question and answer period will be offered to clarify individual problems with understanding tax forms.

LARPD conflict hearing tonight

LIVERMORE — A tentative conflict of interest code is the subject of a public hearing 7:30 p.m. today when Livermore Area Recreation and Park District directors meet at Veterans Memorial Building, 522 L St.

The political Reform Act of 1974 requires the hearing prior to formal board adoption, expected at LARPD's Feb. 9 meeting.

The document then goes to Alameda County Board of Supervisors for approval March 1.

Directors and top administrative management of LARPD — overseeing an almost $2 million annual park and recreation budget — would be covered in the document.

Provisions outline disclosure statement requirements, including contents of investment and real property reports, personal income reports, business entity income reports, and management position reports.

Gifts of at least $25 would be required for reporting, as would each source of income totalling $250 or more.

In other business, LARPD directors will: — interview candidates for the LARPD personnel commission. Four people have expressed interest in the position.

— consider an Americal Little League request that one of the 60 foot fields at Robert Livermore Park be enlarged to a 90 foot field to accommodate senior division play.

will remain a "life estate" in the hands of the heirs. Flynn said the "life estate" means the agricultural acreage can be occupied by the heirs of the estate, but that their title ends upon their deaths. They cannot sell the land in the meantime, or bequeath it to their heirs.

The balance of the land will remain under agricultural zoning.

Flynn told attorneys for the estate it is "the only manner in which I can save the integrity of the agricultural character" of the land.

The attorneys had applied for a variance without the strict conditions imposed by the "life estate." They said there is a "possibility" the land can be sold to a public agency when the clouded title expires.

But the buyer of the existing rodeo grounds must be a public agency, Flynn emphasized, and must maintain the grounds "for public recreation."

HARD has been dickering with estate attorneys for the past several months over purchase of the parcel. No decision has been reached.

Ruling 'clouds' title

Rodeo land unchanged

Alameda County Bureau HAYWARD — The Rowell Ranch rodeo grounds nestled placidly among the tumultuous freeway widening in the Dublin Canyon will be left undisturbed, county zoning administrator Dick Flynn ruled yesterday.

The 43 - acre rodeo grounds, part of some 400 acres in the estate of the late Margaret M. Rowell, can only be sold to the Hayward Area Recreation District (HARD), or "a similar public agency," Flynn said, namely the East Bay Regional Parks District.

An adjoining 26 - acre lot

Fighting City Hall

angle required to get the new road from existing Railroad Avenue to Stanley Blvd. requires slicing a corner off both the PG&E property and Elba Leonard's property.

The octogenarian has been in the little white cottage since 1935, retiring from an accounting job in SP's Stockton office in 1961. He spends much of his time in a small alcove of the home — his "workshop" — where where his pet miniature parrot, Pete, squawks as Leonard looks over the fishing flies he used to make.

He occasionally sits down to plunk on keys of a typewriter to write articles for Sexology Magazine and Psychology Today.

Elba Leonard received a doctorate in biological psychology from Taylor School of Bio-Psychology, Chattanooga, Tennessee, in 1935.

"They should put Railroad Avenue straight into the area they just opened with the removal of the tracks," he said. "They wanted to open that land for commercial development and they aren't carrying out the purposes of the railroad relocation."

"I fought the relocation project," he beams, showing extensive files and clippings he uses "in case they want to question anything and I can answer as accurately as possible."

To Elba Leonard, city hall is full of people who want to take the product of his labor of love.

"I've enjoyed doing this kind of stuff, particularly the roses," he said wistfully. "I like to see things grow and thrive."

His biggest loss will be the tree he grew from a single walnut. Also slated to fall before the bulldozer is three fourths of the hedge in front of his home.

City's hookup alternative

LIVERMORE — The city council Monday unanimously approved the concept of interim holding tanks during a ban of new sewer hookups.

The question of who will haul the effluent from the tanks and what type of control the city will exercise over them was a matter for debate. City Attorney Gary Reiners submitted a draft resolution which would allow the holding tanks by commercial and industrial developers. The document called for an exclusive franchise to be awarded to a single disposal company for transportation of the effluent.

Community Development Director Manny Gordan told the council he favored licensing firms which met city imposed requirements.

"We should allow individuals to contract freely rather than create a monopoly," he said. "An exclusive franchise could be in a position of setting a rate that would be higher than if it was done on a negotiated basis."

Reiners expressed concern over the lack of control with more than one company transporting the effluent. "It's harder to keep track of than a single rate, route and a single company."

Public Works Director Dan Lee reminded council

the county health department regulates this type of activity. "If we franchise, then we are in the business of regulating and inspecting also."

Mayor Helen Tirsell said she was concerned about routes through the city and what happened when the cease and desist order of the regional water quality control board ended.

"It has to be clearly stated that a holding tank permit doesn't guarantee eventual hookup to the sewer system," she said, noting there is only a certain amount of capacity reserved at the water treatment plant for industrial use.

Reiners was instructed to rewrite the resolution, with revisions.

In other action the council:

— accepted the resignation of F. J. Maloney, who has completed two terms on the Housing Authority board of commissioners. Council named Gerald Richards as his replacement. Barbara Baird and Gloria Taylor were reappointed to the design review committee. Council asked for volunteers to fill two regular and three alternate slots on the social concerns committee.

— agreed to prepare a position paper on the city's water reclamation efforts for future talks with LAVWMA. It is scheduled for Feb. 7 review.

— Set Feb. 14 for a public hearing on a proposed 262 unit housing development on the east end of town.

— returned edited segments of the noise element for the General Plan to the planning commission for further review.

— agreed to place in the budget provisions for extension of Pacific Avenue to accommodate the proposed multi-service center.

— began revision of a list of priority highway construction programs involving city-county cooperation.

— agreed to issue encroachment permits for proposed bus shelters along Murrieta Blvd.

— voted to implement a traffic plan to allow greater through traffic on Livermore Avenue at the intersections of Chestnut Street and Railroad Avenue.

— agreed to talk with contract attorney Maurie Engel Feb. 7 about Livermore's situation in the Alameda County planning matters.

—by Neil Heilpern

Where to deal for city wheels

PLEASANTON — Administrative staff cars will join patrol cars as the kind of vehicles the city will be buying through the State of California's central purchasing agency.

Assistant City Manager Alan Campbell said the city has been buying patrol cars for several years through the state, which advertises competitively for bids on the vehicles. Many cities traditionally have advertised for bids with local car dealers, but there is no new car dealer in Pleasanton.

Obtaining the staff vehicles has the approval of the city council.

Permits for all

Convenience-mart policy carries council

PLEASANTON — All supermarkets, great or small, will need a conditional use permit before they can operate the city council decided unanimously Monday.

The new ordinance modification was enacted because of concerns over location of 24 hour convenience markets. Council members are not opposed to these markets, but feel they generate unique traffic and pedestrian problems and their location should be controlled strictly.

The council had trouble defining a convenience market, so decided to require all markets to obtain a conditional use permit. The modification has the approval of the planning commission by a 4-1 vote. The lone dissenter there, Walt Wood, thought more research was needed on the whole question.

On another item Monday night, the council unanimously approved allowing trade schools in industrially zoned areas. All other types of schools are forbidden in the industrial district.

Watersqueeze

OAKLAND — There's a good chance East Bay water users will soon be asked to pay more for using less water.

John Harnett, general manager for the East Bay Municipal Utility District (EBMUD), said Wednesday that the soon-to-be-mandated water rationing program will mean a loss of revenue for the district.

"A 25 per cent reduction (in consumption) probably will mean a 15 per cent reduction in revenue. Since we have got to stay in business and keep paying our bills, obviously, we will have to recoup (the lost revenues) in some way."

Tuesday, EBMUD directors took steps to declare a water emergency and implement mandatory water regulations to conserve the district's dwindling water supply. Although a hearing is planned Wednesday in Oakland, directors made it clear Tuesday they would enact the mandatory rationing in an effort to reduce overall consumption by 25 per cent.

Harnett said exactly how EBMUD will recover lost revenue has not been determined. "We have to work out the details on what we will recommend to the board for consideration, and when it might be applied."

One option is an across-the-board surcharge on bills prepared under the present rate structure. Another would be to re-arrange rates, so consumption beyond a basic amount would carry a heavy penalty charge.

Council touches all the bases

PLEASANTON — Soccer got its recognition, too, Monday night from the city council.

The council had just finished agreeing that merit certificates will go to Oakland Raiders Gene Upshaw and Art Shell and linebacker coach Don Shinnick, and possibly even Ken Stabler's horse, which is boarded here. (Stabler lives in San Ramon).

Mayor Robert Philcox noted that Brad Boldrini, a local high school soccer player, was one of three on the West Coast to be named to a 33 member All-American soccer team. Other council members agreed that's a rarefied atmosphere and Boldrini deserves a citation, too.

Vice-mayor Joyce LeClaire broke into the male-dominated conversation, noting that Diane Dunbar, the local gymnast with the national reputation, appeared on ABC-TV's Wide World of Sports last weekend and gave due credit "to the fair city of Pleasanton". The council already has honored Dunbar for achievements in the past.

Pleasanton picks up an extra tab

PLEASANTON — The city will be paying some attorney fees for Valley Community Services District, thanks to the terms of the 1972 sewer agreement.

The city was sued in two separate cases by Morrison Homes and by Dr. Edward Schlies in matters revolving around whether or not those plaintiffs were entitled to sewer connections.

VCSD also was named in the suit because its sewer plant's jurisdiction figured in the two suits. VCSD had to employ its lawyers for a small amount of time to protect itself, but the 1972 sewer agreement terms have provided that in such an instance the city will pay VCSD's bill.

Total fees for the VCSD lawyer's time in the two suits amounted to $587.50. It was the first time the situation arose since the 1972 sewer agreement was signed by VCSD, Pleasanton and affected area developers.

'Mormon will' probe

Melvin Dummar, left, chats with his attorney, Roger Dutton, outside the Clark County Courthouse, Las Vegas, late Wednesday. Dummar had just completed his second day of intense questioning about his connection with the so-called "Mormon will" attributed to the late Howard Hughes. The purported will names Dummar, now a resident of Utah, as the recipient of one-sixteenth of Hughes' vast estate.

Faculty pay increase

Brown suggests 2.2 per cent

LONG BEACH (AP) — Claiming that teachers are rewarded in part just by being teachers, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. refused Wednesday to budge from his plan to recommend only a 2.2 per cent salary increase for state college and university faculty members.

"I'm a reasonable person," Brown said, "but I do see that property tax relief is the first priority." He said he was committed first to easing the strain on property owners and that a line had to be drawn in higher education.

Despite Brown's explanations and philosophizing, the trustees of the California State University and Colleges passed a resolution requesting that the state finance department review the proposed raise.

Brown intends to ask the legislature to give all other state employees, including teachers in the University of California system, a 5 per cent raise. On Wednesday, he explained to the college and university trustees their teachers should get only 2.2 per cent because that is all faculty members at comparable institutions nationwide are receiving.

The trustees earlier had recommended an 8.5 per cent general salary increase to meet inflation and compensate for what it called erosion of real income. Both the trustees' and the governor's percentages include increases in fringe benefits.

Salaries for faculty members currently range from approximately $11,000 for instructors to about $26,000 for full professors.

Brown derived his position from a report made by the California Post - secondary Education Commission, a report that trustees and professors groups contend is worthless because it relied on an outdated, faulty formula.

Last week the chairman of CPEC, Donald McNeil, expressed surprise that Brown had adopted the report's suggestions, saying the commission's reports seldom are used by the state government in formulating budgets.

The teachers and some of the trustees expressed fear that the low salaries would damage the system's competitive edge in attracting talented academic personnel.

Brown said he was willing to have the CPEC's method of formulating raises evaluated but stopped short of calling for an overhaul of the commission methodology.

He sympathized with trustees' competitive concerns but said he could find no justification for higher salaries. "All this salary situation is a matter of philosophy and where you draw the line," he said.

He said it was time to face the "real issues" that more teachers are being trained when demand for them is dropping and that university and college enrollments will decline greatly in the 1980s. Brown said also that he is not satisfied that administrative salaries are justified.

"There are certain jobs in society that have what I call psychic income. I know there is not a great deal of agreement on my theory," Brown said amidst laughter.

"Teaching is a very great privilege," he said. "The role itself is one of the most desirable in society."

Self-help workshops for women

Pair will take the mystery out of auto upkeep

By Lucy Hobgood-Brown

Carolyn Kramer and Chris Harris not only save money by servicing their own cars, but they enjoy doing it, too.

Do you hate that helpless feeling that sweeps over you when you get a flat tire at midnight on a deserted road? Even if you DO know how to change it, can you protect yourself against mashers?

You can kill two birds with one stone Saturday by attending the American Association of University Women's four workshops at the Livermore Presbyterian Church. Beginning at 10 a.m. "A Women's A'Faire" will include workshops on self-defense, medical self-help, home repairs and auto basics. The event is open to the public and costs $1.50.

Two Sandia Laboratory employees will be on hand to point out the differences between spark plugs and carburetors — and how to clean them. Engineer Carolyn Kramer testifies to the importance of knowing how to keep up your own car.

"When my carburetor gave out I got an estimate that it would cost $100 to re-build it. I bought a carburetor re-building kit for $10 and fixed it myself — and the only other extra expense was the bottle of champagne I bought for the guy who showed me how to do it!"

Chris Harris, a technician at Sandia, confirms the high expenses involved in having a car tuned at a shop. "I decided to learn how to service my own car when I found that it cost $140 at a shop — now I do it myself for $40."

The two women will teach the fundamentals of auto upkeep at the Jan. 29 workshop, from checking the oil to the basics of how a car runs and finally doing an actual tune-up. The workshops will be re-run throughout the day so that individuals may participate in every one.

"We'll be showing how to do the work using a minimum of tools and muscle," promises Chris, who says her husband knows less about cars than she does. "I get a real kick out of working on my own car."

lifestyle

Both Chris and Carolyn agree that there is an added incentive in caring for a car when you have earned the money to buy it yourself. "And men are so impressed when they hear about another man who can do everything on a car himself," says Carolyn. "I pat myself on the back all the time because I can do it, too."

Repairing cars isn't the only hobby the workshop leaders have. Carolyn pressed her own grapes last year and will open her homemade wine any day. She also takes Kung Fu lessons — and admits that repairs are also often needed on her house. Chris enjoys backpacking and outdoor recreation.

Mulberry Branch selects Marcy Ellis as chairman

MARCY ELLIS OF MULBERRY BRANCH

Heading up the Mulberry Branch of Children's Hospital Medical Center is Marcy Ellis of Livermore.

Mother of three, and an interior decorator at Proctor's in Livermore, Marcy still finds time to help the branch raise an average of $10,000 annually for the hospital.

The branch, comprised of women from throughout the valley, sponsors a fall junior horse show as its major fund-raising event in addition to other sales and lectures. The women make rope dolls that brighten up many children's hospital rooms. Members also volunteer to operate the hospital's coffee shop.

Working with Marcy will be Jan Cerruti, vice-chairman; Ginny Wagner, secretary; Thelma Rundstrom, treasurer; and Helen Wagner, membership chairman.

Outdoor barbecue indoors

Resident sheriff and manager, Norm Strehle, is busy at the new charcoal pit in Cactus Jack's galley broiling steaks and hamburgers for all the lucky customers. The charcoal pit is brand new - and the results are delicious. The charcoal gives everything that extra special flavor, the outdoor goodness while you enjoy your meal in the comfort of Cactus Jack's. Besides steaks and burgers, Cactus Jack's is a renowned Valley leader in spaghetti dinners (served at lunch and dinner) and fish dishes. The restaurant is open seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., serving breakfast, lunch and dinner. It is located at 3571 First St. in Livermore.

Sense of enthusiasm

Impressions of inaugural

A bright lively new spirit was sensed at the Jimmy Carter inaugural by three Valley Democrats who attended the ceremonies last week.

Pat Donaldson, a counselor at Granada High School in Livermore, Pleasanton Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire, who works as an administrative assistant to Democratic State Senator Al Alquist, and attorney and Valley Community Services District Director Ron Hyde were among the Valleyites who traveled to Washington.

Donaldson saw "delight and just plain happiness, maybe because I'm a Democrat", when she attended the various inaugural ceremonies.

Donaldson liked the intimacy of the people's prayer service which drew a small crowd and featured Martin Luther King, Sr., who spoke on the theme of sacrifice. She was especially moved by his comments on his own sacrifice of his son for interracial justice.

"It looked like the Kennedy days," said Donaldson. "There were a lot of young people and a lot of black people. The mood was more cautious than in the Kennedy days, but I got the feeling that young people are involved in the government again."

Hyde observed enthusiasm and optimism, too. "When Carter was mentioning Ford in his speech, one guy booed Ford's name and everyone in the crowd around him told him to shut up because he showed such poor taste as to boo Ford," said Hyde.

"There was a common spirit of togetherness and unity," said Hyde. "A man next to me from Maryland said, 'Isn't this great? If it were not for this, I wouldn't be able to meet you and others from all around the country.' I must have talked to someone from every state."

"The weather was not conducive to sightseeing," said Hyde. "The temperature was 20 degrees on Sunday and the Potomac River was frozen over and hundreds of people were skating on it. It reminded me of Amsterdam."

Standing 10 feet away from Carter was one of the highlights for LeClaire. "It was the thrill of a lifetime, the first inauguration I've seen in person," she said.

Donaldson was excited about seeing celebrities attending one of the galas. She stood a few feet from Muhammed Ali, Beverly Sills, and Sen. Ed Muskie.

Donaldson talked to Roslyn Carter, the President's wife, last October, on a plane ride from Atlanta to Oakland. Donaldson couldn't offer her much encouragement about how the campaign was going in California, but the two enjoyed their 10 minute chat.

Donaldson, who grew up in North Carolina, is glad a fellow Southerner is in the White House after 140 years of Yankee domination. However, she is interested in Carter as an individual.

"I'm curious whether his Baptist minister personality or his Admiral Rickover-trained military personality will assert itself," said Donaldson. "When he hugged Mondale the other day, that was his Baptist minister side. The efficiency with which he approached his Cabinet appointments was the military side."

Teenage runaway topic slated for DVC forum

MARTINEZ — Interested citizens are invited to attend a community conference Thursday, Feb. 3 from 2 to 9 p.m. in the Library Forum of Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill featuring state and regional experts on the problem of the teenage runaway.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for registering for the conference. A $6 fee includes the cost of dinner. Checks should be sent to Hal Cheney, director of Community Services, DVC, 321 Golf Club Road, Pleasant Hill 94523.

Early registration is advised due to limited seating.

A keynote panel will precede workshops in legal aspects of the runaway problem, direct services to runaways and community needs and resources.

Members of the county probation, social service, courts, and sheriff's departments will be participating.

Featured speakers include: Elaine Duxbury, project director of the California Youth Authority's research study of runaway programs; Roger Injayan, director of the Region IX Office of Youth Development; Steve Lieberman, co-director of Marin County's Youth Advocates, Inc.; Sue Matheson, regional director for the National Network of Runaway and Youth Services; and William Samsel, attorney for Berkeley Youth Alternatives.

For further information call Darlene Smith, county probation department, 372-2733.

Rock concert signals exams end

LIVERMORE — The end of exams is being celebrated tonight with a rock concert in the Livermore High auditorium — all Valley teens welcome.

Original songs and pop tunes will be performed by

"Catalist," a local group featuring Ken Koga on lead guitar, Rick Richardson on the Hammond organ, Frankie Silveira, vocalist, Jim DePaiva, bass, Dwight Estes, drums and Paul Laguer, congas. Martin Gutierrez manages the group.

Also on the program is a four - member local group, "Homegrown."

The concert is 7 - 10 p.m. at Livermore High, 600 Maple St. (between First Street and East Avenue.)

At the door, tickets are $2. Advance sales at $1.50 each are at Galaxy Records, Funky T - Shirts, Valley Music House and Livermore High.

A share of the proceeds goes to the Livermore High Rally Club.

Jazz unit to perform Monday at Dublin High

The Annual Amador Valley High School District Jazz Concert is scheduled for Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Dublin High School Little Theater.

Convalescent nurse class

A Regional Occupational Program class in convalescent nursing begins Wednesday, Feb. 2 at the Pleasanton Convalescent Hospital.

The nursing course hours will be 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Persons completing the course will receive a certificate of completion from the state. For further information, call 462-1615.

Performing will be student jazz groups from Dublin, Amador Valley and Foothill High Schools.

Among the groups included are the Amador Lab Jazz band, tutored by Mark Lepiane; Foothill Jazz Band, Robert Moorefield directing; Amador Jazz Band, James Campana directing, and the Dublin High Jazz Band, Harry Sweet director.

Featured will be a tribute to the late Duke Ellington, by the Foothill group, Count Basie, and Sammy Mestico, another well known composer.

Admission for the concert open to the public is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Parents get involved

DUBLIN—Parents Educational Rights and Responsibilities Organization, a haven for the concerned, frustrated—and disenchanted?

Fran Phillips and her husband are the parents of six children who were sensitized to the fallibilities of the educational system when a severe learning disability gripped their only boy.

By not being content to "keep occasional tabs" on how he was doing, the Phillips' gradually realized something could be done—both for the child's education and the tenuous communications link between parent, teacher and school system.

From this evolved Mrs. Phillips' participation in the Contra Costa chapter of California Association for Neurologically Handicapped (CANHC) and, now, PERRO.

The latter is a loose-knit group of about 12 parents, spread throughout the valley, but ready to incorporate with the goals of (1) informing parents of their rights, (2) assisting parents in the execution of their rights, and (3) representing parents, when effective communication breaks down.

Mrs. Phillips, whose children attend Wells and Cronin schools in the Murray School District, has been a volunteer at Cronin and is presently on the district's Parent-Administrative Council.

Mrs. Phillips says the group will encourage parent participation in education through attendance at board meetings, serving as volunteer, establishing a PERRO representative in each school or district, organizing and attending workshops, and rewarding teachers and administrators "who reflect positive communication with parents and/or resolve conflicts in a satisfactory manner."

"Parent support is what I got from my association with CANHC," Mrs. Phillips states, "and I would hope this new group could support each other by, among other things, providing information on how a parent would go about getting a learning disability child placed in the right class or setting."

"We would like PERRO to extend from Dublin, Pleasanton and Livermore. We're in the unique position of realizing that all parents don't agree on methods of education... you've got to play the political game to some extent. But we want people to know we're there to help."

"We hope to be a community service type organization but in order to be such we'll need more feedback. There is a need to appeal to working parents," adds Mrs. Phillips.

But the group does not intend on dwelling solely on individual or small group problems to the exclusion of overriding issues.

And what are the "hot issues" facing parents of school children in the valley?

The conversion plans for Fredericksen School in the Murray district, Amador and Livermore district contract negotiations, according to Mrs. Phillips.

She believes both parties in school district contract disputes, administration and teacher reps, should be brought together at a public meeting to answer questions put to them.

Under parent "rights," she lists publishing a pamphlet on the rights of parents, establishing an "open line" phone in which parents can call for information, keeping of a "reference file" of services and personnel in each district served, and establishing a PERRO rep in each school or district. The latter would encourage communication devices, represent and assist individual parents in resolving conflicts, and attend school board meetings and "any meeting involving parent participation."

Under "responsibilities," Mrs. Phillips lists informing parents of the "need" of volunteers for their school, encourage and hold workshops, coffees, etc. in communications, and send letters of acknowledgement of positive efforts by educators, and present annual awards to individual administrators and teachers.

Parents living in the Valley interested in learning more about PERRO and/or attending a future meeting may call Mrs. Phillips at 829-1679.

West Wind youth hub expands events plans

PLEASANTON — West Wind Youth Center continues its new schedule and invites any youth between 14 and 18 to participate.

The building is open 3-5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and 7-11 p.m. Saturday for drop-in activities. Pool, table tennis, table games and outdoor group activities are available at drop-in time.

Specific club activities are scheduled on Wednesday evenings. The bicycle club, under the leadership of Dan Garlock, is planning its spring vacation trip to Yosemite. Other trips will be planned later in the year.

The "On the Go" program, scheduled Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:30 p.m., features short excursions throughout the Bay Area to attend activities, visit exhibits, go to ice cream parlors, and participate in other activities. The program includes neighborhood pickup and return to the door with vans provided by the Department of Recreation and Human Resources.

For more information, call West Wind, 846-2240.

Schmer, Wentworth join forces again!

A joint exhibit of the macrame artistry of Billie Schmer and oil paintings by Phyllis Wentworth will open with a champagne preview Friday, Jan. 28 from 7 to 10 p.m. at Franklin Savings and Loan Association in downtown Pleasanton.

The reception from 7 to 10 p.m. will be hosted by the Pleasanton Art League and Franklin Savings.

Ms. Schmer, a nine-year resident of Pleasanton, teaches macrame through the Adult Education Office of Amador High School, and the Pleasanton Department of Recreation and Human Resources. The Pleasanton Art League and Alameda County Fair have awarded her work several times since she took up the craft six years ago.

Billie works only in original designs, from tiny jewelry patterns to large wall hangings.

A resident of the valley for 16 years, Ms. Wentworth began painting about 10 years ago and has developed an original technique reminiscent of tapestry which she describes as "realistic illusion." Her approach to her subjects is detailed and realistic.

Phyllis is also an avid antique collector.

Both women are actively involved in the Pleasanton Art League and Pleasanton Cultural Arts Council. They are co-founders of the popular street fair held each year on Pleasanton's Main Street as a scholarship benefit.

Last year the pair launched a private venture in the Artique show of art and antiques at the Alameda County Fairgrounds.

The exhibit of their work continues through March 17.

You can learn the Scotch hop

A two-part workshop on Scottish Country Dancing will be jointly sponsored by the Del Valle Folk Dancers and the LLLRA Folk Dancers.

The first session Friday, Feb. 4 will be taught by Wes Ludemann with basic step and figure practice, and a review of dances currently done in Livermore. This session at Joe Michell School in Livermore from 8 to 10 p.m. is recommended for dancers of all levels of proficiency.

The second session Saturday, Feb. 12 will be a more comprehensive lesson in figures, and styling taught by Elsie Robertson. New dances will be introduced at this session at the Livermore Presbyterian Church from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Proper footgear is important in Scottish Country Dancing, as the feet must be as unencumbered as possible. Gillies, ballet slippers or moccasins are recommended; light-weight tennis shoes (not running shoes) are acceptable.

For further information about the classes contact Mr. Ludemann at 443-1629, Carolyn Hunt at 447-6578, or Sharon Gardner at 447-5325.

Craft show jury date

Crafts persons interested in participating in the Vintage Creations spring show at the Century House in Pleasanton are advised that jurying is set Tuesday, Feb. 8.

Items to be judged may be brought to 1177 Avenida de las Palmas in Livermore between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. For information call June Barton at 447-3641 or Gail Johnson at 846-4933.

Sale for the symphony

One man's trivia is another man's treasure says the Livermore - Amador Symphony Guild which is seeking donations of miscellanea for its annual 'Treasures and Trivia' sale coming Feb. 4 at The Barn in Livermore. All monies will go toward the L-A Symphony which plays four public concerts in the valley each year. The guild will also accept donations of baked goods for the sale. Information on drop-off locations is available from Joan Dickinson at 447-6454 or Bev Hamlin at 846-1455. Chairman of the guild's biggest project this year is Mava Wolford, pictured above.

By Al Fischer

While "Network" and "Rocky" have gained great acclamation and will probably gain several statuettes each at the annual Academy Awards Night in March, movie fans tend to overlook perhaps the best film of last year because it was released early in the campaign.

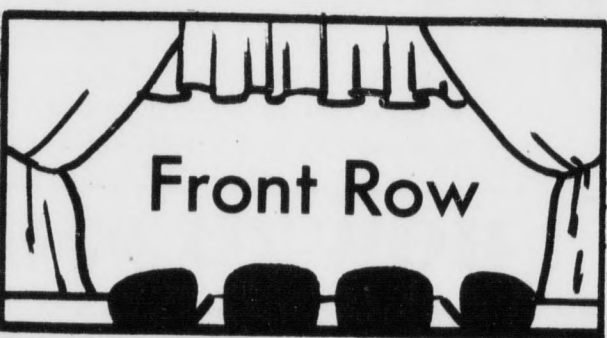

We speak of "All the President's Men," starring Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman as the Washington reporters Woodward and Bernstein.

It is entirely possible that Hoffman could have a second picture in the "Oscar" derby, since "Marathon Man" is doing excellent business and could be nominated for "Best Picture."

"Business," however, is not a prime requisite as the Motion Picture Academy voters prove each year.

"Network" is a superb allegory and metaphor for power, done in much the same style (as one office worker noted) as "Citizen Kane," the Orson Welles milestone of several decades ago.

But two of the year's offerings that must be seen (in our estimation) are "Voyage of the Damned," dealing with the fateful journey of Jewish people aboard the S.S. St. Louis in World War II, and Francois Truffaut's endearing "Small Change," viewing life's milieu through the eyes of children.

Some of these films are beginning to go into area-wide runs after a month or more exclusively at San Francisco theaters. "Rocky" is now at the Festival 6 on Hesperian Boulevard in Hayward and Centry 24 and 25 in Pleasant Hill.

Valley theaters do not normally play new releases first-run out of San Francisco, though the Vine had "King Kong" when it broke area-wide and opened the pioneer adventure "Across the Great Divide" last night.

Final week for photo exhibit at fairgrounds

An exhibition of photographs and facts about the American bald eagle, touring nationally under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institute, is on display for a final week at the Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society Museum.

Last day for the display at the museum on the Alameda County Fairgrounds Sunday, Jan. 30 from 1 to 4 p.m. Regular hours are Tuesday through Friday from 1 to 4 p.m.

More than 80 full-color and black-and-white photographs taken by nature photographer Victor M. Banks are complemented by text which explores the history, lifestyle, characteristics and habitat of the national bird, "Symbol for Survival."

Information on special museum tours is available by calling 462-2766.

of the season by Civic Arts Repertory, debuts tonight in Walnut Creek.

Aristophanes' fourth century B.C. comedy - classic describes how the women of Athens, sickened by their husbands' passion for war and destruction, organize a women's strike, using a most potent and agonizing weapon, the denial of sexual favors.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Performances are also scheduled Feb. 3-5, 17-19 and 24-26.

Tickets are still available for the one performance of humorist Pat Paulsen at Chabot College auditorium in Hayward Friday, Feb. 4.

Chabot Gold Card Seniors are admitted free. Show time on the 4th is 8 p.m.

The jazz ensemble and jazz quartet at California High School in San Ramon will feature the "3rd Annual California Jam" at the school's Lil Ballou Memorial Theater on Feb. 3.

The performance is being organized by music instructor Joe Alfano. Proceeds will help send Cal High musicians to the annual Reno Jazz Festival and give the quartet a chance to cut an LP.

Young people are the focus of Sunday's free symphony

A violin concerto full of gypsy fireworks by 17-year-old Laurie Hamilton, the magic flute of 14-year-old Allison Dibley, and a charming suite of Renaissance court dances which includes a flashy sword duet offer a lively and varied introduction to music for children at the free Young People's Concert Sunday.

Adults as well as children will enjoy the one-hour program prepared by the Livermore - Amador Symphony under the direction of Dr. Arthur Barnes. The 3 p.m. concert at California High School in San Ramon will be repeated at 7:30 p.m. for an audience at the Livermore Presbyterian Church.

Featured soloists, who earned the honor in competition with other young musicians, will be Ms. Hamilton with Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole," and Ms. Dibley with a Chaminade flute concertino.

Special attraction will be the Renaissance dances arranged for modern instruments and danced to the original choreography described in the 16th Century "Orchesography" by Arbeau. Dancers Anne Witherell and Ron Harris will be dressed in period costume.

Elegant court dances, simple circle dances with a peasant flavor, and the flashy sword dance have been worked out by the pair. Children from the audience may be asked to participate in some of the simpler dances.

Ms. Witherell is a doctoral candidate at Stanford University specializing in Baroque dance, an interest she developed as a student at the Eastman School of Music.

Harris is doing post-doctoral work in neurobiology at Stanford and has been dancing with Ms. Witherell for about five years. Both are acquainted with Dr. Barnes of the L-A Symphony who teaches at the university.

Local artists can apply for six months' employment

The Alameda County Neighborhood Arts Program, Inc., has recently been awarded a contract to employ and train 18 artists for six months' work in the community.

Visual, performing or literary artists who are currently unemployed or under-employed and who are residents of Alameda County (except Oakland or Berkeley) may apply. Significant ability in any art discipline and a demonstrated interest in community art work is required.

Applications are now available at the Pleasanton Library and the LAA Gallery in the Carnegie Building in Livermore.

Application deadline is Feb. 7.

Funds for this program were made available through the U.S. Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) administered in this project by the Alameda County Training and Employment Board.

The Alameda County Neighborhood Arts Program, Inc., is a non-profit service organization with offices at 4020 Broadway in Oakland.

Voice and dance workshop for young performers set

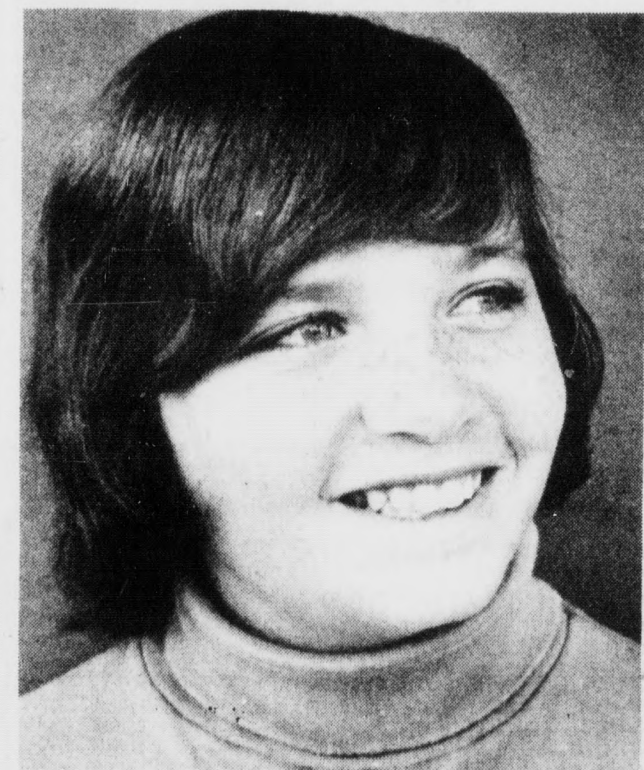

A music workshop for the art of performance in voice and dance will be conducted for young people beginning Feb. 1 by the Curtis School of Music in Livermore.

Youth between the ages of 13 and 21 will be offered instruction in vocal technique, phrasing, arranging, dance and choreography at a cost of $40 per month. Some scholarships will be offered and the workshop is limited to 30 students.

The class will meet Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 10 o'clock at the Livermore Presbyterian Fellowship Hall.

Instructors are Bill Hayes and Edna Fischer for voice; Judy Davis, Helen Nobel, Helen O'Neil, Castle Studios and Moro Landis in dance. For information contact Judy Curtis at 443-3969.

Kudos to Mark

Thirteen-year-old Mark Anderson of Pleasanton, youngest among 10 accomplished competitors, captured second place and $100 in a youth piano contest sponsored by the Philharmonic Society of Fremont - Newark. Mark surprised judges with his mature rendition of Mendelssohn's Concerto in G Minor, according to a society spokesman. Winner of the competition, 21-year-old Dan Cunningham of San Francisco, will solo with the Fremont - Newark Philharmonic Orchestra in a March 13 concert at Ohlone College in Fremont at 2:30 p.m. at which time Mark will receive his award. The contest is sponsored annually for youth of the Eastbay and Tri-City areas. Mark has studied piano eight years with Trula Whelan, plays the guitar also, enjoys rock music and plans to become a professional musician.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am being treated by a neurologist for a condition called tic douloureux. It occurs unexpectedly as a series of severe stabbing pains, between the right temple and the ear which sends me to the floor, slapping at my head. The attack lasts 15 seconds, recurs in 30 seconds. It is not triggered externally.

For years I had only an ice pack to stop the attacks. Then my doctor gave me a prescription of one Tegretol tablet, two Valium and two Dilantin capsules. This combination taken at once worked beautifully, stopping the attack in 30 seconds. I am now taking four Dilantin a day to prevent an attack. The side effect of the Dilantin is an occasional loss of balance, stumbling, and unsteadiness.

My doctor suggested a half tablet of Tegretol four times daily. I am afraid to take this instead of Dilantin, because if my body becomes used to Tegretol, I will have nothing to stop an attack.

Is Dilantin the best preventer of an attack? Has any research found a cure for "tic?"

DEAR READER — You may be more fortunate than some with tic douloureux (trigeminal neuralgia). Some have repeated sharp lightning-like pains to the side of the face or jaw and the severe pains may last for hours. The medicines you are taking are commonly used in the treatment of this difficult and painful disease. The combination of medicines has to be worked out for each patient.

Dilantin is not as effective as Tegretol but it has less side effects. Your doctor wants you to take the Tegretol in an effort to prevent your attacks.

In severe cases that cannot be adequately controlled by medicines there are other approaches to the disease. The pain is along the distribution of the pain fibers of the trigeminal nerve (hence the term trigeminal neuralgia). This nerve is directly from the brain to the side of the face and jaw. Its motor divisions enable you to contract and relax the jaw muscles.

The nerve can be injected with alcohol but this will only be temporary and when the nerve trunk regenerates the pain returns. Surgery may destroy more than just the pain fibers and cause a person's face to be numb and unfeeling on the affected side.

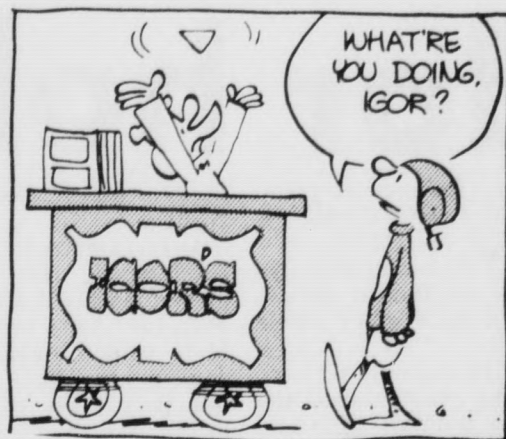

In recent years a technique of electrocoagulation has been developed. A needle is inserted into the nerve fibers. By introducing an electric current the pain fibers can be destroyed. Because the pain fibers are not covered with a sheath they are more sensitive and can be destroyed without seriously damaging the rest of the nerve that affects the side of the face. The selective destruction of the pain fibers cures the problem. It is a delicate operation but many neurosurgeons are now trained to do it.

You might ask your neurologist if he thinks it would be advisable in your case. It would be one way of getting off medicine entirely.

For information on man's most common bowel problems send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 2-1, Spastic or Irritable Colon and Constipation. ## Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHY DO BIRDS MIGRATE?"

A. PROBABLY, BIRDS FLY NORTHWARD IN THE SPRING BECAUSE THE LONGER SUMMER DAYS ALLOW THEM TO GATHER THE EXTRA FOOD NEEDED DURING THE NESTING SEASON.

TRACY ZURN ALBION, MI

Some birds are year-round stay-at-homes. Many others fly south for the winter and return north in the spring to build their nests. The yearly round-trip journey of birds is called "migration." No one really knows why birds migrate.

Although the ice and snow of winter make it hard for some birds to find food, birds probably do not migrate just to find food or escape the cold.

Some scientists think it likely that the length of day and the amount of sunlight help create the urge to travel.

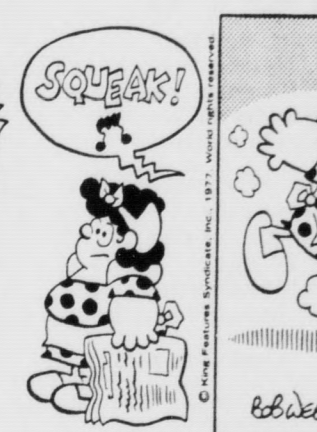

In the spring, birds fly northward where the days have grown longer than the night. Because the daily food needs of birds is much greater during the nesting season, the extra hours of daylight allow the adult bird enough time to gather food and raise its young.

Once the nesting season is over, many birds return south, long before the arrival of cold weather.

For Thursday, Jan. 27, 1977

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be very careful when shopping today not to spend your hard-earned cash on something that's more novel than necessary.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Even allies of long-standing can't be relied upon to back you up today. This holds doubly true for persons you've recently met.

GENI (May 21-June 20) If you find yourself in a problem area today, don't try to wriggle around and make matters even worse. Out of the frying pan...

CANCER (June 21-July 11) Strive to be as attentive to old friends as you are to new ones. If you show partiality, someone's nose is going to be bent out of shape.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Success is likely to elude you today. You tend to change course once the goal is in sight. Stick to the original plan.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Uncharted shortcuts could prove to be the long way around today. You'll do a lot better by staying on the beaten path.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) One who has perennial financial problems could try to put the bite on you today. If you let your guard down, you could give in.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Problems will result if you become too closely tied in with a person whose aims are not in accord with yours. Take care who you team up with.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The workload you'll have today will be a heavy one because others will be trying to shift their burdens onto your capable shoulders.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A well-intentioned friend may come up with a business tip for you today. Listen politely, but probe thoroughly before using.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Bar negative outside influences and individuals from your doorstep today. Don't let others palm off their troubles on your household.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Seeing only the dark side means you're getting half the picture today. Look for the bright side as well.

This year's Vanderbilt and Spingold were both won by a team captained by Dr. George Rosenkranz of Mexico City that included Dr. Richard Katz, Larry Cohen, Roger Bates and John Mohan. The team averaged just over 40 years in age. Dr. Rosenkranz, 60 years brought the average up.

In this hand from the finals, five diamonds is a very shaky contract. It makes due to the favorable lie of the cards. That is, it makes it if it bid. Dr. Rosenkranz stopped at four quite properly. The defense started with two rounds of hearts and shifted to a club. George won in his hand and since he was in four, laid down the ace of diamonds as a safety play. He continued with the queen after the jack dropped and wrapped up his contract.

South became declarer at three notrump at the other table, but wound up one down after John Mohan opened the king of hearts and continued the suit with Roger Bates carefully playing the jack and then the 10 so as to unblock for John's fifth heart.

The correct rebid is a pass. You have a minimum opening and undoubtedly two clubs is the best place to play the hand. Your partner should have at least four clubs for his raise.

Amador holds off Falcons

Compiled by Times staff

The Amador Valley Dons remained in first place in the East Bay Athletic League basketball race and, pending a rematch, won the high school basketball championship of Pleasanton with a 46-44 win over visiting Foothill last night.

In other EBAL contests Livermore rolled over California 70-59, Monte Vista downed San Ramon 76-65 and Granada topped Dublin 53-45 to move its record to 5-1, a game behind Amador Valley.

Don Hall was the statistical leader for Amador with 16 points and 17 rebounds but Chris Kearns was the hero. Kearns had 12 points and eight rebounds but more importantly, sparked a third-quarter rally and tallied the final four points of the game for the winners.

Rick Rosenbach topped Foothill in scoring with 17 points while 6-4 forward Steve Sperber added a dozen and 11 rebounds. Lane Joseph had nine rebounds for the visitors.

Amador's switching, snarling full-court press, combined with strong rebounding and back-to-back Falcon throwaways spotted the Dons a menacing 8-1 lead after three minutes.

But Foothill's 1-2-2 zone kept the Dons outside and Foothill went ahead to lead in the third quarter.

That's when Kearns scored three straight baskets to set off a 10-4 burst that dimmed Foothill's chances.

In Livermore, Granada's 6-6 forward Joey Wujek played most of the last half with four fouls while the Mats trailed Dublin 35-34 entering the final period, but Wujek hit two free throws and Stan Paul and Dan Lambert sank key field goals opening the fourth quarter, to give the Mats a cushion to work with against a better than 0-6 Dublin squad.

the taller Mats to lead the Gaels with 18 points, while juniors Jeff Barnes and Dan Peirson muscled seven points apiece. Wujek led all scores with 22, while the steady Lambert pocketed 10.

Livermore was powered by Mark McCreary with 22 points and Tim Jenkins with 22. Chuck Cary led the losers with 20 markers. Larry Walters added 18. Livermore jumped off to a 17-10 first-quarter lead and was never headed.

Blea, Goodman pace Nazarene

Jack Blea scored a whopping 33 points and Steve Goodman added 20 as Nazarene blitzed the Cheese Factory, 76-52, in Tri-Cities basketball Monday night at Camp Parks.

Chuck Boswell added 13 for the winners. The Factory got 19 points from ex-California star Dan Lufkin while former Martinez Muir pivotman Ed Corell chipped in 11.

Straw Hat won the battle of the Pizzas, dropping a Round Table squad, 50-41, behind 15 points from Gordy Cox and 14 from Steve Henson.

Kevin White had 17 for the losers while Brad Santucci added 15.

Irwin Colbrandt tallied 21 points and three teammates got into double figures as the Brian Court Riders and Striders locked up a 68-49 win over the Federal Correctional Institute.

George Athan, with 13, Don Kruger, with 10, and Mark Costa, also with 10, were the other trio of high scorers for the Brian Court. Don Golden and Mike Johnson each had 11 points for F.C.I.

Carl Polla fired in 22 points and Wayne Meier added 14 as Round Table's other representative beat Kodak, 59-30. Jim Kakomeister and Bill Duncan each had eight points for the losers.

Carpets 'n' Colors covered Purcell's, 57-31, as Chris Dayak scored 26 points and John Parker added 12. Purcell's Dennis Herrington led the losers with 12 markers.

Mike Benapfl hit 12 and Dan Laney 10 for the Dry Heaves who divided EG & G's United, 53-32. Raleigh Santos fired in 15 points for United.

In Friday's action, Nazarene A beat Brian Court, 62-56, as Goodman tallied 19 and Blea, 17. Another former Muir, Mike Sharrock fired in 14.

Athan, meanwhile, was hot for the losers, pouring in 23 points.

Raleigh and Jess Santos each scored 12 points and teammate Les Temple added 10, as United beat Purcell's, 46-37.

Mike Schofield led the losers with 15 points.

Columbus Realty and Turtle Grease apparently battled to a rare tie as Irv Lindemuth's 13 points led all scorers. Kevin Sanck had 12 points for the Realtors.

TAC won a defensive battle from the Sandia Warriors, 33-25, as Dave Wiltz's 15 points was high for both clubs. Mel LaGasca paced Sandia with nine points.

Harris Realty limited the Flaming Turkey's to a ridiculously low point total to cap a bizarre, 34-11, triumph. Nick Gilotti topped all scorers with 17 points while Reggie Mitchell's four was the best the losers could muster.

Tom Bily tallied 13 points and Leland Duey 12 as American Pool drowned Heritage Realty, 43-33. Gary Horstkorta's 10 points were high for the losers.

Bullets top Warriors

Associated Press

LANDOVER, Md. — The streaking Washington Bullets overcame a Golden State jinx and raced past the Golden State Warriors 106-95 Wednesday night for their sixth straight National Basketball Association victory.

Phil Chenier paced a balanced Washington attack with 22 points.

Elvin Hayes, Washington's leading scorer for the season, had 18 points and a season-high seven assists. He also grabbed 11 rebounds.

The Bullets, who now have won 12 of their last 14 games, scored 12 of the last 16 points in the first quarter, for a 32-22 lead they never lost.

It was the Bullets' first victory over Golden State at home in their last six tries, dating back to the 1975 NBA championship series, won by the Warriors in four straight games.

Rick Barry scored 16 of the Warriors' first 18 points, hitting eight of his first 10 shots. He then missed 10 of his next 12 and wound up with 28 points.

Tri-Valley dumps Marin

The highlight of the week for the Tri-Valley Minor Hockey Association was without question the play of its PeeWee AA team which drubbed Marin, 6-0, at Iceland in Dublin Sunday.

In other games, Tri-Valley's Mite AAs tied Belmont, 2-2. Eastridge beat the Bantam A team, 4-3. Midget AAA beat the Juniors, 4-2. Belmont whipped the Squirt AAs, 7-2. Fresno blanked the Squirt AAs, 12-0. Santa Rosa clobbered the Midget AAs 16-2, and Santa Clara obliterated the PeeWee As, 18-0.

Shawn Picotte tallied a hat trick and had a like number of assists in the PeeWee AA triumph as Duke Chaves added two goals and Sonny Delk, who also had three assists, wrapped up the scoring.

Brian Gonzales and Mike Merrick also had assists.

Goalie John Ulrich recorded his first shutout of the season via 17 saves to bring the local side within two points of league-leading Eastridge.

Belmont capitalized on its own strategy and an ill-timed penalty by the T-V Mite AAs to tie that contest. With nine seconds to go, and Tri-Valley short-handed, Belmont pulled its goalie and, with two extra skaters on the ice, scored its second goal of the third period. Brian Schaeffer and E.J. Rankin led the way offensively for the Dublin team with a goal and an assist each while Bryan Long and Frankie Zagarella added assists.

Bobby Long had 10 saves in the nets for the hosts.

Goalie Steve Robello gave up one goal too many in the Bantam A contest.

Doug Bivins and Lloyd Kristoff shared 24 saves in the Tri-Valley goal, but it wasn't enough to win the Junior match.

Mark Gonzales had a goal and an assist, but the only other bright spots for Tri-Valley in its loss to Belmont in the Squirt AA game were a goal by Keith Medeiros and an assist by Kevin Medeiros.

Mike Lang had 22 saves in goal.

Steven Barnett was overwhelmed by 43 Fresno shots as the Squirt As were blizzed.

It was a similar story in the Midget A tilt as Dennis Hayes faced 51 Santa Rosa attempts, but at least the valleyites scored in that one.

Bill Hayes scored and assisted while Rett Zuniga had the other goal thanks to assists by Craig Bates, Robert Foster and Chris Noland.

Falcon jvs top Pokes

Foothill High School's junior varsity girls basketball team continued on the winning trial Tuesday night with a 32-20 victory over Livermore.

The win kept the Falcons unbeaten in East Bay Athletic League action with a 5-0 mark. Foothill is 8-0 overall.

Kim Fruzzetti led the victors with 16 points. After trailing 10-9 at half the Falcons outscored the Pokes 14-4 in the third quarter to ice the victory.

Vomacka's 268 tops keg league

Charlene Vomacka erupted for a 268 high game en route to a 625 series to highlight action in the Mixed Classic League of Granada Bowl's winter league action last week.

Vomacka has a 164 average.

Chris Spring bowled a 221 high game and 221 series in the Women's Invitational League. Linda Jensen of The Nooners fired a 324 game and a 553 series.

Bob Fanucchi led the Men's Classic with a 695 series and 258 game. Teammate Lowell Bayless added a 257 high and 646 set.

Archie Blair's 231 and 611 paced the Reno League. Merv Perry found the line in the Sunday Special with his 229 game and 620 set.

Al Harvey led the pace in the Mixed Classic League with a 222 and 611.

Merit Adds Merit 100's.

MERIT taste science applied to new low tar 100mm cigarette with impressive results.

The MERIT breakthrough technology that produced a whole new taste standard in low tar smoking has now been applied to a 100mm cigarette.

New MERIT 100's. Only 12 mg. tar. Yet packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco fortified with certain key flavor-rich ingredients isolated in cigarette smoke and proven to deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

If you smoke but haven't chosen to take advantage of the MERIT breakthrough because you prefer a longer length cigarette, you'll be interested.

Kings: 9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine—
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Because now you have your MERIT, too.
Read the test results for yourself.

Test Data Conclusive

New 12 mg. tar MERIT 100's were taste-tested against a number of major 100mm brands ranging from 17 mg. to 19 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested.* The results: overall, they liked the taste of MERIT 100's as much as the higher tar 100mm brands tested.
